

New Businesses on Square to Hold Open House Friday Evening

Two new businesses on the east side of the Sunbury square are holding an Open House Friday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. Glenn Evans, Nationwide Insurance Agency and Magic Touch Hair Fashions and Beth Coffee, a hair salon, are the new businesses. They are serving cookies and punch Friday evening to anyone who stops by. "We're here to stay," Glenn Evans told the News. "We don't intend to move anymore." His neighbors, Carol Walker and Beth Coffee feel the same way, as they explained "we've assured all our faithful customers that this is definitely our last move." Evans, left in picture to left, owns his agency which he operates with the help of his wife, Donna, seated, and Carol Day, adjusting Glenn's "Welcome Nationwide" banner. Beth Coffee, left, own and operate the Magic Touch Hair Fashions as a partnership. Evans says he's going to have door prizes for Friday night's Open House. He's offering a lawn chair, a lamp, a small table, and, of course, Nationwide blankets to those who come in to see him. The girls at Magic Touch have already awarded their door prizes from their Grand Opening which they held last week. First prize, a wig, went to Pauline Buxton, second prize, a shampoo and set, was won by Eleanor Hughes, and third prize, a free haircut, went to Marie Goddard. Glenn and the girls have been planning for the past couple weeks for Friday night's Open House and are ready for a great turn-out. Both businesses invite you to "stop by for some punch and cookies" and meet the new additions to the Sunbury business district.

Property Damage Estimates Mount in Wake of Tornado

GALENA BRICK HAS $100,000 DAMAGES; SOFSRA CLOSED FOR THREE MORE WEEKS
Property damage estimates are mounting in the wake of last Tuesday's tornado which touched down in Galena and Sunbury.

Of the four businesses caught in the path, Galena Shale Tile and Brick Co. sustained the heaviest loss, although the Sunbury SofSpra Car Wash is probably out of business until the second week in June.

President of the Brick Plant, John Shultz, told the News this week the damage was extremely heavy. "but we're lucky no one was hurt; we're really lucky at that," Shultz said he feels about half of the work force will be back to production Monday and the remainder the following week. "We kept all men working this week with the clean-up around the plant," Shultz said. He added that all the roofs were damaged, most of them taken completely off. He said the wind destroyed most of the electrical wiring as well, but the largest part of the reconstruction costs mounted with the replacement of new steel supports for the roofs. "We're estimating the total damage at $100,000," Shultz says. "but with that, we're lucky."

On a smaller scale, Ray Curtis, owner of SofSpra, had as much if not more damage. "I was hoping to be back in business by the first of June," he told the News Tuesday, "but it doesn't look like we'll be ready until about the second week of June." Curtis estimated his total damage at $8,000, but with the wind's stripping off of his entire roof, including wiring, plumbing and part of the concrete blocks around the top of his building, his business was completely wiped out by the tornado. "I'm just glad I've got insurance or I'd never be able to reopen. Funny thing is," he continued, "my wife and I had talked about canceling the insurance on the building, but I'm sure glad we didn't. That thought will never run through my mind again."

Plant Manager Frank Bergandine said the Nestle Company in Sunbury sustained "between $25,000 and $30,000 damage." That damage was done to the new warehouse roof when the twister apparently touched down on the west side. "We didn't have much damage to the inside of the warehouse as first thought, nor to its contents," Bergandine added. "We've pretty much got things battered down again," the Nestle manager explained Tuesday. "Workers started right in last week and worked through the weekend putting the new roof on." Bergandine, too, expressed how fortunate it was that no one was injured. "It's possible that the whole roof might have collapsed. If the sky lights hadn't burst out."

Chuck Dial, of Ellis Bros. Concrete, Inc., said he hasn't had time to figure estimates on damage nor find out exactly what the Mt. Vernon-based company will do about their damage. The tornado completely leveled the storage barn used by Ellis Bros. building which was about 10 feet from the office where Dial and his secretary, Pat Wise, (Continued on Page 2)

Reports Theft of Rototiller Monday

Glenn Huff, 6663 S Old 3C, Westerville, reported to Deputy Sheriff W. B. Mills Monday that someone had stolen his rototiller from his garage. Huff said someone had evidently backed a truck into his driveway between 9 p.m. Sunday and 3 p.m. Monday and loaded the $399.95 piece of equipment on it. Huff said the rototiller had never been used.

DEADLINE FOR APPLICATIONS FOR HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION IS JUNE 4

Deadline for applications for the Homestead Exemption on the real estate tax statement next spring is Monday, June 4, according to the Auditor's office and Deputy Ruthella Haviland prompts property owners over 65 to "apply now."

"You have to re-apply each year," Ruthella says, "and we know the majority of persons who qualify haven't done so yet. We've only had 314 applications so far this year and last year we had a total of 883."

The Homestead Exemption applies to any property owner who will be 65 or over by Dec. 31 of this year. If he or she has a total income when combined with that of his or her spouse, which is less than $8,000, that property owner qualifies for a real estate tax break on this year's taxes which will fall due next spring.

The Homestead Exemption takes into account all facets of income for persons over 65. The total of your old age and survivors benefits, social security, pension, annuity or other retirement income, including interest and dividends must be figured in. If that total remains less than $8,000, you qualify.

And since Gov. Gilligan last July signed the amended Homestead bill, only the combined incomes of the property owner and his or her spouse is considered, and anyone else living under the same roof who also has an income does not matter. Deputy Haviland tells the News she thinks many people feel that since they applied last year, they don't have to this year. "However, you must apply every year as incomes change from year to year," she said.

If the total income of both property owner and spouse is $2000 or less, the taxable value of his property is reduced by $5000 or 70%, whichever is less on his tax statement. If the total is between $2000 and $4000, taxable value decreases by $5000 or 60%, whichever is less. If the total is between $4000 and $6000, taxable value decreases by $3000 or 50%, whichever is less. And, if the total income is between $6000 and $8000, taxable value decreases by $2000 or 40%, whichever is less.

Deputy Auditor Haviland says that you don't have to apply in person. Persons wishing to apply can call us, send someone to pick up the application, or come into the office if they want to. All we have to know before we can send out an application is the taxing district in which they live. They can tell us that by which township and school district they're in.

Auditor's office is located on the first floor of the courthouse. Hours are from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. daily and the phone number in the office is 369-2351 in Delaware.

Three Youths Injured in Two-Car Crash Saturday Night

Three area youths were taken to Riverside Hospital Saturday night following a two-car crash at 3C and SR 37 intersection Saturday evening, just 30 minutes after a Columbus man lost control of his vehicle at 3C and SR 61 north of town and rammed up under a parked truck trailer.

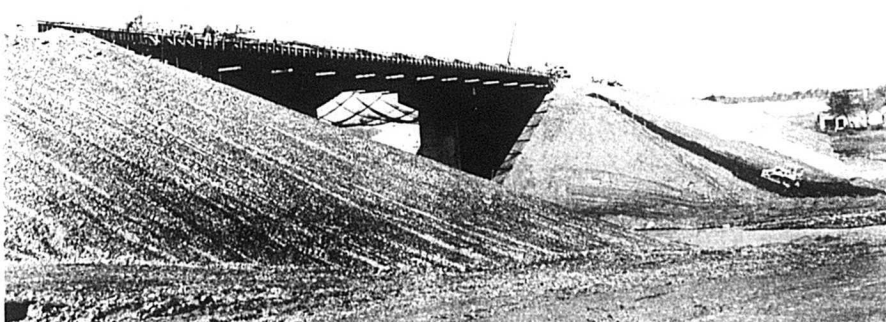

According to Sunbury Policeman Dean Edwards, the accident at 3C-36 and SR 37 happened about 10:45 p.m.

Saturday night. All three taken to the hospital were in the same car, pictured above. Treated at Riverside, but released as of Wednesday, were Joe J. Browning, 17, R.I. Marengo, driver of the car, and his two passengers, Terry Lee, 15, and George F. Crabtree, 12, both of 226 Blayney Rd., Sunbury.

Edwards reported that the Browning car was eastbound on SR 37 at the intersection when he apparently tried to make a left hand turn up the 3C in front of a westbound vehicle driven by Harley A. Townsend, 29, 115 Columbus St., Sunbury. Heavy damage was done to both vehicles, and, although the investigation continues, Sunbury Police say Browning will be cited for failure to yield while making a left turn.

Workers Pour Floor on CR 72 Bridge First Major Part of Dam Project Nears Completion

Construction plans seem to be falling into place for the Alum Creek Dam project as the first major part of the project, the CR 72 bridge, is still set for a July 1 completion date. Workers poured the floor for the bridge last week with concrete from Ellis Bros., Inc., of Sunbury, and with the pouring, Alum Creek Dam project Resident Engineer Joe Turner says things seem to be bright on schedule.

Crews from Purdy Construction Co. of Mansfield did the actual concrete work on the bridge as a part of the overall Alum Creek construction section of the dam project. Army Corps Engineer Turner told the News Purdy subcontracted the two bridges on the CR 72 causeway from Acme. He said the price for the bridge poured Friday, the longer span which crosses Alum Creek just west of Cheshire, is $370,000. Total project bid for the two bridges, second of which crosses old CR 10, plus the causeway, was $2,090,000, according to Turner.

Turner gave the News some of the dimensions of the project, one which amazes an onlooker with its immensity. The embankment which will carry CR 72 across the reservoir contains 1,100,000 cu. yards of fill, including mostly crushed shale. For the layman, that figures out to be about 2,227,500 tons of material. The bridge poured Friday measures 65 feet above the existing creek bed and will be 25 feet above water level when the reservoir is at normal pool stage, according to Turner. That means that the reservoir will be about 40 feet deep at the Cheshire bridge. When asked how much concrete was used in the pour Friday, Purdy bridge crew Supt. Ed Hurn said the estimate called for about 340 cu. yd., but Chuck Dial, manager of Ellis Bros., said his mixer trucks carried about 1 1/2 yds. of concrete in 45 trips Friday. "That was the largest pour we've had from this plant so far," Dial added. Friday also set a record for the total amount of concrete leaving Ellis Bros., at 381 1/2 yards.

In the above photo, taken from what will be the eastern bank of the reservoir just north of CR 72, Purdy workers started on the eastern side of the bridge when they made the pour Friday. The nets under the bridge act as a catch-all to keep construction materials out of Alum Creek below. Relative size of the fill can be seen with the bulldozer spreading dirt on the embankment and the farm buildings to the right of the photo.

Big, Beautiful Texas Offers Campers Much

Texas is a big, big state and let me tell you, we really enjoyed every minute we were touring from border to border.

We entered Texas Jan. 29. When we crossed over the line to go to the Carlsbad Caverns it was Apr. 6 and all that time was spent some- where in Texas except for the three weeks in Mexico. We saw practically everything except the panhandle region. The park is 1,100 square miles.

For you traveling campers, there are some lovely places to stay and enjoy that state. Those travel- ing parks situated in the orange groves of the valley are wonderful. Then traveling across to the west along the southern border, you find Amistad Lake and Falcon Lake.

Both man-made from the Rio Grande River. Beautiful camping spots and fishing, they tell us.

The heart of southwestern Texas is Big Bend National Park situated in the big bend of the Rio Grande River between Mexico and Texas. The park is 1,100 square miles of desert and mountains. The desert is particularly lovely this time of year more so than usual.

Entering the park we drove through lush, green desert with many bloom- ing cactuses. Then as we pro- ceeded to the southeastern portion of the park, the desert became quite dry and arid, but still beau- tiful in its stark way.

The camp site for travelers is in the floodplains in the far south- eastern portion of the park where trees, flowers, grass and birds were numerous. Rangers have dally pro- grams arranged to acquaint the guests with the area.

Nearby is Boquillas Canyon cut between the two countries by the Rio Grande. This is a beautiful canyon and we seemed to walk miles in its steep cliffs.

In the middle of the Big Bend Park are the Chisos Mountains, very rough and craggy. Storm clouds were hovering over the peaks the day we climbed those mountains. Believe it or not, we parked the camper in a parking area in front of the lodge, drew the curtains, hunted out the warmest clothing we packed and changed and again faced the elements. We took one trail. The wind was blowing and the temper- ature was below freezing. Snow was spitting, too. Needless to say we soon sought the warmth of the lodge.

High up in the Chisos Basin was another camp site.

From there we drove to the south- western portion of the park where we climbed those mountains. To the Santa Elena Canyon. In this canyon we had our exercise. First crossing a river on foot, we climbed, climbed and climbed some more to the high cliffs of the canyon walls, then started back down again until we went as far along the deep groove as possible. Guess what -- we then had to start climbing out. This earned our supper that night. This canyon was particularly interesting as it went from arid growth to swamp type.

Then to top of that day, we drove the Old Maverick Trail out of the park. Can't believe it could have been any rougher for the stage coaches and when we finally reached a ghost town of Study Butte we needed a shovel to clean out the dust in the camper.

Bluebonnets, lupines, century plants, ocotillo, claret cup cactus and many others were in full bloom. I never thought I would enjoy the desert, but I have definitely enjoyed it and it does change constantly as one travels along the roads.

Only one more place to see in a bad dust storm and that was at Alamo- gordo, N.M. However, we have seen hundreds of tiny whirlwinds whirling the sand high above the ground.

One more park I must mention for you. It is the Davis Mountains State Park north of Alpine, Texas. We first came upon Fort Davis which is a truly interesting American history. The fort is being retained in very good condition by the state and just over the mountain is the state park with lovely camp grounds. In the park is a hotel called Indian Lodge where fine food is served in the dining room. The entrance around Alpine, Ft. Davis and Marfa is beautiful. Hunters would be in- terested to know there were about as many antelope in the fields of the ranches as there were cattle.

Yes, we both loved our trip through that huge state and both are deter- mined to return some day. Days were hot but those nights are cool and wonderful for sleeping.

Only one more place to see in a bad dust storm and that was at Alamo- gordo, N.M. However, we have seen hundreds of tiny whirlwinds whirling the sand high above the ground.

One more park I must mention for you. It is the Davis Mountains State Park north of Alpine, Texas. We first came upon Fort Davis which is a truly interesting American history. we went as far along the deep groove as possible. Guess what -- we then had to start climbing out. This earned our supper that night. This canyon was particularly interesting as it went from arid growth to swamp type.

Then to top of that day, we drove the Old Maverick Trail out of the park. Can't believe it could have been any rougher for the stage coaches and when we finally reached a ghost town of Study Butte we needed a shovel to clean out the dust in the camper.

Bluebonnets, lupines, century plants, ocotillo, claret cup cactus and many others were in full bloom. I never thought I would enjoy the desert, but I have definitely enjoyed it and it does change constantly as one travels along the roads.

Big Walnut Juniors to Attend Boys State

Two high school juniors from Big Walnut will represent the community at the 1973 session of Ohio American Legion Boys State sponsored by Col. Benson Hough Post 457.

Selected to participate in this annual civics workshop are Wayne Hale, left, son of Mrs. Howard Hale, Vans Valley Rd., and Larry Piper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Piper, SR 605, Sunbury. Alternates selected are Gary Cox and Wesley Newland.

The 1973 session will be held at Ashland College in June. There will be 50 separate Boys States conducted this summer for youths who have just completed their junior year of high school to study the organization, operation and political processes of state, county and municipal government.

The boys from Big Walnut will participate in the organization of political parties, campaigns, elections and government and enforcement of their own laws within a mythical 51st state. From each Boys State, two outstanding young men will be chosen to attend the 28th annual American Legion Boys Nation, July 19-25, in Washington, D.C.

At Boys State the boys will have the opportunity to learn more about the functions of government. Also, they will get a better idea of the importance of each good citizen in discharging basic citizenship responsibilities according to Commander Joe Semon of the Sunbury post.

On the Lighter Side

Carol Sherbourne was chosen queen of the week and presented with a basket of daisies. The members of Lighter Ladies chose Donna Crooks and Rose Ward to receive the good grooming apple this week. Inspiration was given by Sandy Curtis.

Weekend for Golfers and Goofies

This past weekend was one I'd like to remember always! Six of the greatest people in the world (we think) joined us for 3 days of golf, sight-seeing and just plain fun. Hueston Woods Lodge near Indiana was the scene for a lot of good times for Lola and Warren Hammond, Gail and Adrian Abolina, Mary Ann and Jack Weinberger and Cathy and Dewey Merdeth. Besides paring every hole on the golf course - (what a dreamer I am!) we visited the nature center, and the Shady Nook in Melville, near Miami University. We arrived home on Mother's Day evening in time to thank all of our moms for babysitting for our little "darlings". Dewey and I had an additional surprise - our son, Billy's, first black eye! After five tears from me, we got out the camera. Anyway you look at it - the weekend was fabulous!

A Fishy Story

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Thompson, Matt, Christa and Andrew, were camped at Shady Grove Lake in Jackson over the weekend. Judy caught the largest fish of all and made for a delicious fish fry on Saturday, not Judy - the fish!

The Murphy Go Bear-less

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Murphy, Becky and Beth Ann and Wilma and Richard Kirkpatrick from Homer spent the weekend at Ontario, Canada. Sorry to report they ended up with no fish or bear, but had a good time anyway. I understand they left just before a 15 inch snowfall came tumbling down.

It's Hectic at the Heyders

Last Wednesday found Louise Heyder and Jim Longshore at Morehead College helping Debi pack to come home for the summer. Louise, Debi, Jim and Debi's roommate and date enjoyed dinner at the Holiday Inn and the movie before saying goodbye. Saturday evening callers at the Heyder home were Debbie Lawless and Mike Walker. On Sunday, Lawrence treated Louise, Debi and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Heyder to dinner at the "Derrick" near Mt. Gilead. Mrs. Heyder and Maxine Longshore attended the Delaware Children's Home Board meeting on Monday and were happy to hear that more than $1,300 was raised recently to benefit the children.

Fravels in Florida

I received a post card from Mrs. Roger Fravel this past week. She really deserves a trophy for courage for taking 7 kids to Disney World! Hope the cancellation of the space lab doesn't upset their plans too much.

I'm Still Begging

The Religious Education Flea Market is not too far off - but we are way off in our donations for hamburger, hot dogs, chickens and cash. I know that the public is continually asked for one thing or another but religion in our schools is becoming a thing of the past. Let's do all we can to preserve it at Sunbury. Food may be dropped off at Cathy Merdeth's place or the home of Sandy Meeker.

Conratulations! Joyce Pittman was presented with a silver cup for achievement in involvement.

sales for Stanley Products. The award was given at the Blue Dolphin in Mansfield. Mrs. Pittman is now striving for a gold cup.

Ladies Take Trip

Several ladies from our neighborhood were guests of members of the Home Demonstration Club last Thursday. Those visiting the museum at Marietta and the Pexton Art and Glass Company were Nancy Houser, Betty Forman and her guests, Mildred Stump and Mrs. James Jones.

Simpsons are Busy

John Simpson called his mother, Irene, from Taiwan on Mother's Day. He is recuperating from an injured ankle while his fiancée, Luann Wymer from Sunbury, is recuperating from a broken leg. (They really have a lot in common!) Friday evening guests of the Simpsons were Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, Mrs. Melvin Baerman, Mildred Marcum and Reverend Eva Peet. On Saturday evening the Simpson family hosted a warmer roast for the youth of the Nazareth Church. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Jones and Kim Simpson and Keith Jacobs shared an evening complete with steak dinner in Columbus on Friday.

Happenings of the Hastilows

Bruce and Cecile Hastilow joined friends on Thursday for a trip to Washington Court House to hear the gospel sounds of Henry and Hazel Slaughter. On Friday, the Hastilows traveled to Dayton to hear the Bill Gathers Trio. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hastilow were Sunday dinner guests and the family gathered together recently for a birthday dinner honoring little Tami Hastilow, who was two.

Burkhardt's are Busy, too

Jim and Doris Burkhardt joined the adult members of Jim's family for dinner at the Worthington Inn Saturday evening. On Sunday the Burkhardts, along with Doris's father, Fulton Fore, of Dayton joined in a family get-together hosted by Les and Marge Burkhardt in Delaware.

CSA Board Approves New Members, Plans Important Spring Meetings

At its monthly meeting, the CSA board approved new members to serve on the Budget and Admissions Committee of the United Way to consider the 1974 budgets for UW agencies. Chuck Smith, Smith-Crest Real Estate, and Jerry Heston, accountant, will serve two-year terms. Herbert Cole, PPG, and Robert Ziegler, Citizens Federal, are serving the second year of their two-year terms. These persons are chosen by the CSA board from the names submitted to them by the CSA member agencies.

Dorothy Jones, CSA board president, John Young, treasurer, and Dick Gaubler, board member, asked the CSA representatives to a committee to consider the advisability of combining the United Way and the CSA into one agency. Russell Bayliff, professor of Sociology at Ohio Wesleyan, is serving as chairman of this committee at the request of both agencies. Dr. Bayliff helped found both the CSA and US in Delaware county. He has served as CSA board president and has a number of years as the CSA representative to the United Way board.

The CSA board voted to send a letter to the George Hoffman family in recognition of the many ways Sun contributed to the effectiveness of the CSA program in Delaware.

Nancy Frankenberg, CSA Executive Director, reported on the progress of the new program. Focus on Delaware, being sponsored jointly by the CSA and the Ohio Wesleyan radio station WLSN-FM. The revision of the Delaware County Health and Welfare Directory is underway.

Three meetings of major concern were announced. The annual meeting of the Ohio Citizens' Council for Health and Welfare will be held May 17 in Columbus. A number of local agencies will send representatives. A meeting of representatives of health agencies was held May 2 with Joseph Derick of the Mid-Ohio Health Planning Federation to consider the urgent matter of reactivating the Delaware County Health Planning Council. Out of the seventeen counties in the Mid-Ohio Federation, Delaware county is one of two without an active comprehensive health planning group. The third meeting is called by CSA and the county concerned about our new five county detention facility to consider a deal in early June to deal with the issues of justice in Delaware county. The Ohio Departments of Rehabilitation and Corrections and the Ohio Youth Commission have strongly endorsed community-based approaches to the problems of improving the judicial system. Many citizen's groups in Delaware county are already involved in study and the conference is being considered as a possible way to bring these groups together to stimulate and promote changes through citizen involvement.

Marion Office Answers SS Questions

This column is presented each week in cooperation with the Marion Social Security Office to answer your questions on social security.

QUESTION: My 28-year-old son, who has been disabled since birth, gets social security checks on his father's earnings record. He has been getting checks for nearly 5 years. Can he get Medicare coverage starting this July?

Answer: Yes. Disabled people who've been getting monthly social security checks for 24 months or longer can get Medicare coverage starting July 1. They will get hospital and medical insurance automatically but will be given a chance to decline the medical insurance, for which a monthly premium must be paid.

QUESTION: I started receiving reduced social security retirement checks last year when I turned 62. I am now 63 and have suffered a stroke. Can I apply for monthly disability payments?

Answer: Yes. If you are found eligible to receive disability benefits, your retirement benefits will be changed over to disability benefits. You cannot collect benefits under both the disability and retirement programs at the same time. Your monthly disability payments would be higher than those you receive now under the retirement program.

County-Wide Participation Is Goal for Next Arts Fair

anyone interested in arts and crafts to join us."

Storm Brings Excitement

Last week's news gave an accurate account of the tornado that hit our area on Tuesday. Brenda Coleman and I ran to the church kitchen window when we heard the wind and saw the smoke, funnel swirling dark debris in the Holmes St. area. The village is again proof of the quick response of our volunteer fire and firemen. They responded with helping hands and the calm, cool attitude needed after such an incident. As our family walked around the area that evening we were amazed at the stories told and thankful that there were no known injuries.

Polly Barcus, an employee of the brick plant, stood in the office window and watched the wind suddenly lift a large tree just a few feet outside the window and lay it across the road. Leo Jordan, Walnut St., drove in his driveway just as the twister hit. He left the motor of his car running and ran to his house. He just got in the house when a loud crack from a nearby tree was heard and part of a large tree fell on the trunk of his car. Many people have their own stories to tell, and no doubt we are a little more apprehensive when the dark clouds begin to appear and the wind begins to blow.

Thursday night when the police alerted us for a possible tornado many were frightened and tense. Louise Fissel and the other 4-H advisors have a story about the regular 4-H business meeting when Galena was alerted to a possible twister. Louise Fissel, the other advisors and 35 girls went to the basement of the church to wait it out. Some of the girls were quite frightened and feared the safety of their families at home. The 4-H activities were continued in the hallway as the girls played games, sang and had refreshments. It was almost like any other 4-H meeting, almost!

Seasonings In A Bland Diet?

For certain gastric disorders a BLAND DIET is often prescribed - avoiding all highly seasoned foods.

Formerly, it was generally held that seasonings caused irritations to the digestive system, though this notion had no scientific support.

Recent chemical studies disclose that not all spices are bad. For example, Cloves, Allspice, Maca, Thyme, Paprika, now have been shown to cause no harm. Whereas Pepper, Cloves, Mustard and Nutmeg are still considered harmful in certain cases.

But diet requirements vary considerably with different persons. So whenever a restrictive diet is required, it's best to consult your doctor.

Your doctor's orders, your prescriptions, are met with professional skill at DEL R. PHARMACY. Entrust all your medical supplies and pharmaceutical needs to DEL R. PHARMACY, Cor. Sandusky & William Sts., Delaware.

Study Wind Patterns

Science Classes at Highland Jr. High School are engaged in a study of wind patterns in the United States. After studying how weather moves and forms for the U.S., a practical experiment was needed to back up the theories. Helium-filled balloons with an attached postcard, addressed to the school fit the purpose. The postcard had information concerning the date and time the balloon was released and found. The exact location of the finding, the name of the finder, the color of the balloon, etc. Approximately 260 balloons will be launched.

As the postcards are received by the school, a map stuck with pins, shows the locations of the balloon findings. It is hoped that the balloons will indicate a general wind pattern across the mid west and eastern United States.

One postcard was received from News Mansfield, Pa. a few miles from Titusville.

PLAY TWO GAMES SUNDAY AT DELAWARE...

MILLER, DAVENPORT, WRIGHT LEAD DCR TO 6-5 WIN OVER CRAIG REALTY

Delaware County Realty won out in the non-league battle between two realty teams, beating ever-strong Craig Realty of Columbus 6-5 in a single game played on the Big Walnut varsity diamond Sunday. DCR is now 3-0 as they prep for the season's opener May 27.

This Sunday, they will go against the team they open the season with when they play the Delaware Merchants in a twin bill on the Hayes' diamond starting at 1:30. Coach Buck Davenport's team opens their 25-game Heart of Ohio league season the following Sunday against the same team here at 1:30. Phil Miller, Tony Davenport and Robin Wright shared honors for DCR's win over Craigs. Miller pitched five innings before tiring and being relieved by Tony Davenport in the sixth inning and also went 2 for 2 at bat. Davenport finished the game and collected a hit while holding Craig to two hits while striking out three batters. Davenport is 2-0 on the young season.

Recees, Wright comes up with the big blow for Delaware County, stroking out a grand-slam home run in the third inning to put DCR on top 4-1. Craig tied it in the top of the sixth with three runs but DCR pushed two more across in the seventh which offset final run by the Capital City team in the top of the eighth.

Mike Butts had the only other extra base hit in the game, stroking out a double for the winners.

SCOTS LOSE 9-4 SECTIONAL GAME TO NEWARK IRISH

Highland failed to come up with the big hit against Newark Catholic in their Sectional game Wednesday at Newark, leaving fifteen men on base, before going down 9-4. The Scots left the bases jammed in the first, second, sixth and seventh innings, failing to come up with the clutch hit.

The win moved the Newark Irish into the Sectional finals where they beat Northridge and they now have shot at a Co-District championship. They are 13-3 on the season while Highland now stands 1-14.

Newark put eight hits, with a double by Wilson their only big glow, to go to use, along with seven Scot errors to score their nine runs, with only three of the runs earned. They scored in every inning but the last two, with the fifth their biggest when they plated three runs. The Scots had single runs in four frames.

Tough-luck Bob Myser started for Highland and was charged with the loss, dropping him to 1-6 on the year. He was relieved by Gary Grizzle in the fifth and Brad Squires caught. Puckett went all the way for the winners.

Hale, Low Lead Over Barons
Wayne Hale started against the Barons and was breezing along with a 7-1 lead in the sixth inning when the Barons exploded for six runs. BV used four singles and three BW errors to send six runs across the plate, with only two of the runs earned.

Low came on in relief to put out the fire but not before the score was tied. A single run in the top of the seventh gave BW the win with Low going to 2-3 on the year. Low paced game hitters, going 2 for 2, including a double which drove in the winning run, and he also scored three runs. The remainder of the hits in the game were scattered for both teams. Jeff Hughes, who relieved Mike Bauder in the sixth inning, was charged with the loss, putting his record at 2-2.

Davis Beats Wildcats 3-2
Dale Davis held North Union to three hits and received hitting support from Low and Barrow to edge the Wildcats 3-2 on the loser's diamond Monday afternoon. Big Walnut bunched their runs in the first and second innings with

County Humane Society Warns Residents of Dognappers in Area

Unless you've lost a dog recently, you may not be aware, but there are dognappers in the area and the members of the Humane Society of Delaware County want to catch them.

"We recently got a report of five well-bred dogs stolen from one county road near Interstate 71 and three were reported two months ago apparently stolen from one street in Westerville," said Mrs. Rosemary Via, president of the Humane Society.

At its meeting held Thursday, May 10, members of the society voted unanimously to offer a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person who has stolen a dog or cat.

Added Mrs. Via, "It's really quite a racket. Dognappers will usually stake out an area before stealing the animals just like in any other robbery. If a person sees a suspicious car parked for a lengthy period of time on more than one occasion in an area where dogs come up missing, he should note the license number. Or get a good description of the car, van or truck all of which are used."

Dognappers are primarily after purebred or the popular mixed breed dogs such as cock-a-poo's because they have high market value even without papers.

At the meeting members also decided to begin a campaign to inform college students who have pets they don't want to take home for the summer what they can do with them. Said member Mrs. Barbara Patterson, "There have been too many years when the schools closed and the dogs and cats were shoved out on the city streets to fend for themselves. But instead of being taken in by some kind persons, they usually end up at the dog pound and are eventually euthanized."

The society will hold its second annual Rabies Clinic Sunday, June 24. Areas will be set up in Delaware, Ashley and Sunbury and the inoculations will again be given for $3 per shot for either one-year of three-year inoculations for dogs, cats, skunks, fox and raccoons.

Marjorettes Named for '73

Big Walnut High School held annual marjorette tryouts for the marching band. Six girls competed for the four positions as marjorettes.

Named to the squad for '73 season are Head Marjorette Karen Inala, Bonita Sherman, Nancy Daugherty and Cathy Moodspaugh.

The girls were judged by a panel of three teachers on posture, knee lift, toe point and facial expression. Each girl had practiced a routine for one week and then in groups of three performed the routine for the judges. The girls performed the fight song routine for the judges also.

"Having only one week to learn a routine is more like actual conditions during the marching season," said James Swearingen, director of the marching band. In previous years the girls had made up their own routines and performed them.

Big Walnut FFA Names Member of Month

Dan Williams

Selecting the member of the month has always been a hard task in the month of April with the state convention, judging contests, playing and radio and television programs.

After much consideration, Dan Williams has been chosen as the outstanding member for the month of April.

Dan has participated in a variety of activities this month. He was the state convention both Friday evening and all day Saturday. Judging on two different teams is a lot of work, yet Dan judged on both the meat and the livestock teams at the State judging contest and did well on both teams.

Every year Big Walnut FFA is responsible for hanging flags for the State Convention held in the Lausche Building on the fairgrounds. When red and white were added to blue and gold as the FFA colors this year, the chapter also made 50 new flags to hang and Dan played a large part in making and hanging all the flags.

Even with all these activities, Dan still found time to help the chapter plow and disk in order to plant the first of the chapter's crops. Dan is raising two beef animals and four acres of corn and he also works many hours for other people as work experience.

Dan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel R. Williams, 407 Carter's Corner Rd., Sunbury, and is chairman of the Recreation Committee.

Final Concert Tonight

Big Walnut Symphonic Band, under the direction of James Swearingen, will hold their final concert Thursday, May 17. The concert will be held outdoors near the library, weather permitting and will start at 7:30 p.m. Afterwards there will be a reception in the gymnasium for all those attending. There is no admission but donations will be accepted for the general fund of the music department.

Advisory Council Meets

Big Walnut Citizens' Advisory Council met with members of the school board at the Middle School last Thursday.

Election of new officers was held. Mark Lileurance was named chairman with David Meek as vice chairman. Other officers were Carolyn Smith, secretary and program co-chairman, and Diane Petruska as program co-chairman.

Neal Perfect talked about what the board expects from the council and vice versa. Council members questioned the lack of communication between the board and the council. Most members felt this could be improved as the board and council become more accustomed to working together.

One major problem the council discussed was the poor attendance of some members. Joe Schilder suggested that two meetings be considered as grounds for dismissal from the council. Although members did not act on this proposal, a consensus showed that guidelines for attendance would be drawn in the future.

California Reading Tests Given

California Reading Tests were given to approximately 2,000 students in the Big Walnut School System last week.

The annual tests were given to all students in grades 1 through 11. The tests are taken in five separate classrooms in the high school. The elementary and middle school students take the tests in their regular rooms.

The 50 minute test consists of two parts, one part on vocabulary and the other on reading comprehension.

The tests measure a student's ability to read and comprehend with results given by year and month level. An average sophomore taking the test should score 10.8 meaning ten years and eight months of school at the time of the test.

The results go in a student's permanent record and are used to evaluate the students' abilities. The main use by teachers is to compare a student's grades with the scores on the test. Students' grades should reflect their scores on the test. Any big difference indicates problems other than reading. The need for a parent-teacher conference may then be indicated.

Harley-See Piper Puppets

Kelly Piper and the "Piper Puppets" presented an adaptation of the famous fairytale Rumpelstiltskin to the Harlem Elementary Pupils last week.

Mrs. Piper travels all over the state presenting her show for schools and other organizations. She gives about 200 shows during the school year.

During the summer months she prepares for a new show for the fall. She makes all the string puppets and completely designs all the scenery and props for her shows.

Mrs. Piper controls all the puppets and does all the voices for each performance. With the aid of her feet and knees she controls background music and all the lighting for the show.

BW FFA Plans Community Projects

What can we do to help the community? This is a question that the Big Walnut FFA members are asking. Dozens of suggestions have been made and just as many turned down, but two good ideas were voted on at the May meeting held Monday night.

The first is a bicycle safety program which the chapter voted to give at the Sunbury, Galena and Harlem elementary schools. With the increasing number of children riding bicycles, the chapter feels someone has to show young bike riders the proper safety rules and precautions, to hopefully prevent any accidents caused by the riders not knowing the proper way to handle a bike.

The second idea stemmed from the large amount of requests received to pour sidewalks. The executive committee discussed the idea and decided to have six members working a full 40 hours a week, with two alternates to help with the large pours. The item was brought before the chapter at the monthly meeting in the form of a motion, which the chapter passed. The whole project hinges now on finding a junior or senior willing and capable to supervise the work.

Mailbox Improvement Set for Next Week

Condition and positions of mailboxes, both in rural and in town, will be observed next week during Mailbox Improvement Week, according to Sunbury and Galena Postmasters Bill Smith and George Hogg, respectively.

"The Postal Service designates a week in May each year when all customers are encouraged to examine and improve, where necessary, the appearance of their mailboxes," said Smith and Hogg.

The purpose of Mailbox Improvement Week is to call attention to the need for providing mail receptacles which are designed to protect mail from weather and next in appearance, conveniently located and safe to use," they said.

Hogg and Smith said putting the owner's name on boxes is optional, but when box numbers are assigned, the number must be on the side of the box visible to the carrier when he approaches or on the door when boxes are grouped.

Postmasters reminded customers that when boxes are located on a street other than the one on which the customer resides, the street name and house number must be put on the side.

The height of the mailbox depends upon the type of vehicle used by the carrier. "The box should be adjusted so as the lid opens, it falls even with the lowered window of the carrier's car," said Hogg and Smith.

Boxes and supports should be kept painted and free from rust, they added.

Olentangy 5th Graders Use Individual Needs Learning

Fifth graders in Mrs. Bonnie Mack's room in the Olentangy Elementary School are working in a new program based on individual needs. Under this plan, the teacher and pupils use any and all methods of teaching and learning, suit the materials and pace to their own needs.

The children keep a daily log of their activities in Language Arts. They are responsible for a minimum assignment for each week, however, they may choose their own materials from a wide selection and plan their schedule for study each day.

The Art Center is open for projects of many kinds. Creative writing is illustrated, props are made for dramatizing stories, and a "skills" box provides material to meet individual needs in mastering a given skill at any given time.

Mounted pictures and creative writing projects provide suggestions for poems, stories and reports. Word games are available for those who enjoy the challenge of those who play and the children are encouraged to play one game a week. Pictured in the top photo in the Arts Center are some of the pupils with Mrs. Mack. Left is Scott McCoy, Beverly Ridgley, Connie Houtte, Mrs. Mack, Carolyn Steward and Kris Cole.

The listening station provides materials in listening skills and writing and enjoying poetry. Music

The pupils use the reading corner for selections from their new reading lab. Here, they read a book they have chosen and then prepare to share it with their teachers. They will exchange thoughts, opinions and information about their books. The teacher sets as a diagnostician during the individual conference and then prescribes remedial measures based on observations and records.

A committee is busy editing the many stories and poems written during the year. A copy of the book will be given to each student as a reminder of their participation in the program. Evaluation of the children's work reveals weaknesses in various skills and these needs are met in a variety of small skill groups that meet briefly each afternoon. Anecdotal records are kept of each child's progress.

Mrs. Mack summarizes her and her students' program saying, "Our days are filled with small challenges, surprises and accomplishments. Together we hope to make education an exciting and revealing experience."
