Board Awards Supplementals

Big Walnut Board of Education members approved 26 supplemental contracts at Tuesday night's regular board meeting, in face of the pay-to-participate fee for activities having supplemental contract personnel.

Board members at the June 1 special meeting of the following students involved in all sports (grades 7-12), marching band, drill team, flag corps and cheerleading a fee for participation. That fee is $125 per activity, with a family maximum of $500 per year.

During Tuesday night's regular meeting, however, board member Mike Stumpf said the board plans to look at those fees again.

"We can admit that we may have made mistakes. We would like to look at the fees again," he said.

With the exception of approved supplemental contracts for Big Walnut substance abuse coordinators Doris Burkhardt and Bobbie Herd, most of the following approved supplemental contracts are for personnel in the pay-to-participate activities: Rex Sponhalt, head football; Charles Brodhead, head coach of boys soccer; Ron Lehman, head coach of volleyball; Janet Lehman, assistant for marching band; Dean Duffey, head of golf and girls basketball; Tom Stage, head of cross country; Tom Nelson, head girls tennis; Bambi Hanawalt, high school cheerleader advisor; Jacques Weatherby, flag corps; Ric Cavichia, head of boys basketball; And Mark Matthews, head of wrestling; Jim Frazier, marching band director; Paul Shivers, assistant for marching band; and Rich Smith, middle school football; Kim Woosley and Cheryl Chester, middle school volleyball; Dave Phelps, middle school cross country; Rich Smith and Mike Denton, eighth and seventh grade middle school boys basketball, respectively. Kim Woosley and Nadine Adams, middle school girls basketball eighth and seventh, respectively; and Mike Hicks, middle school wrestling. Superintendent Carl Martin said 60 personnel normally are approved for supplemental contracts. He told The News that next month more probably will be approved.

One-year limited teaching contracts were approved for: Rex Sponhalt, LD, and Todd Dawson, math.

The board accepted the following resignations: Annette Arneiman, Souder's Elementary teacher; and Jennie Wolfe, high school math teacher.

The board approved keeping field trips, such as the eighth grade Washington, D.C. trip and the sixth grade Outdoor School, for the 1993-94 school year.

Martin said next school year's field trips will follow the same pattern as this year's.

"The more I thought about it, the more I don't feel comfortable with eliminating it (field trip program) to save a dollar or two," Martin said.

Although the board members have

News' Senior 'Congratulations' Ad Must Be Delayed

Full-page "Congratulations, BW Seniors" advertisement originally scheduled for this week's News has to be postponed as the senior composite picture is not yet finished.

Cubbery Studio reports equipment malfunction kept them from getting composites done this past week, as scheduled. And, without the composite, The News cannot complete the advertisement.

Cubbery hopes to have the composite pictures finished this week or next, meaning the congratulatory ad in The News may appear either June 17 or 24.

BW Grad Wins Hearst Award for Photography

Jim Weber, a senior enrolled in Ohio University's School of Visual Communication and a 1989 graduate of Big Walnut High School, has won the national photojournalism championship in the Hearst Foundation Journalism Awards program for college students.

Weber was announced Monday, May 17, in San Francisco. Weber was awarded a $3,000 scholarship and the OU School of Visual Communication received a matching $3,000 grant.

Ohio University students have won first place in the annual photo competition six times, more than any other school, according to records supplied by the Hearst Foundation. The only other schools to have won the award more than once are Western Kentucky University (four times), and the University of Missouri and Indiana University (three times).

"The Hearst Award is regarded in the industry as the Pulitzer Prize for college students," says Chuck Scott, director of the School of Visual Communication. "This is a highly regarded competition."

Tyler Mallory of American University in Washington, D.C., finished second, and Al Schaben of the University of Nebraska was third.

Sixty students from colleges and universities accredited by the Association of Schools of Journalism and Mass Communication entered the competition. The three finalists were flown to San Francisco for three on-the-spot assignments in the competition's third and final round.

Weber's assignments focused on the romance of a bi-racial lesbian couple, event coverage of the Bay to Breakers Run, and a portrait of a gang of young graffiti artists.

"I did some solid shooting and I got some news angles, which I think impressed the judges," Jim reports. Weber is staff photojournalist at The Post, Ohio University's student newspaper. He has worked as a photo intern at the Troy Daily News (Ohio) and the State Journal-Register in Springfield, Ill.

Weber began his career as a photographer and darkroom technician at The Sunbury News at age 14. He worked part-time at the weekly for four years.

Weber is the son of James and Rosana Weber, who now live in Boise, Idaho.

County's Older Adults Don't 'Let Moss Grow' in First Year

by Karen Cairrell

Council for Older Adults in Delaware county celebrated its first anniversary last Tuesday as an incorporated organization, after a busy year of developing services for the county's senior citizens.

This agency is a restructured version of the Delaware County Council on Aging, according to Robert Horrocks, the Council for Older Adults executive director.

Council for Older Adults was formed by a task force, which was appointed in January, 1991, by the Agency Conference Group, recommendation that a new or existing group provide more structured services for Delaware county seniors. In addition, it would be an umbrella group for those services.

The task force aimed to "more clearly define all the issues involved in meeting the needs of an expanding population of senior citizens throughout the county, and consider how to implement the services," according to its report.

Delaware County Council on Aging expressed its willingness "to restructure itself in order to take on the responsibility of expanding and coordinating senior services in Delaware county," according to the task force report.

Thus, last year the not-for-profit Council for Older Adults was formed. "Instead of wading through years of history, we wanted to become an incorporated agency and start fresh," Horrocks says.

Starting fresh for the agency means developing services needed by the approximately 9,000 seniors. Horrocks says that population will more than double to 19,000 by 2010.

Horrocks says first, however, the restructured agency is finding out which services older adults want and need and implementing them.

In fact, the Council for Older Adults plans to begin calling Delaware county seniors next month in order to find out which services are still needed.

Horrocks says the scientific, random survey is being provided by the Central Ohio Area Agency on Aging (COAAA) but is in the process of being adapted for this county's older adults.

He explains that this survey partly came about after he and other Council for Older Adults representatives interviewed 15 major service providers in the county about the needs that they serve and which they think are needed.

The executive director says he hopes that the survey results will be completed by the end of August.

"After the survey is completed, we can say, 'This is where the gaps are,'" Horrocks says.

Finding where the gaps are is important for the next step: forming a rough draft plan stating where the gaps are and what can be done to fill them.

Horrocks says this rough draft plan should be ready for the public by either the end of September or the beginning of October. Then, it will be presented at public hearings for Delaware county residents' input, he says.

The survey and rough draft plan are due in part to an informal survey inserted into the council's senior directory.

"Although the majority of the (about 3,000) copies went to well seniors, we found that there is an underlying fear that they may need in-home services some day so that they can stay in their homes,"

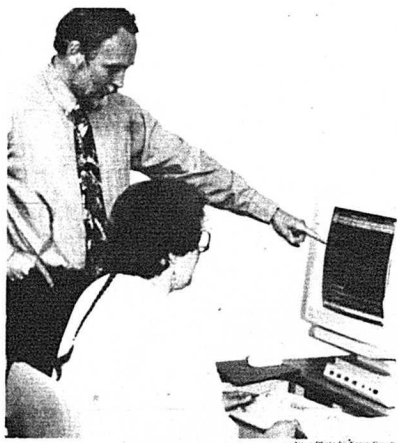

Horrocks says. "People who need these services now have to go to agency A, B and C. We want to have one-stop shopping. They call a number, and that person on the other end puts together an in-home service package for them."

In fact, helping people to remain independent by living in their own homes is one of the council's main goals, according to Horrocks.

Another of the main goals is providing information about services for seniors. Horrocks says seniors not having information about

Council for Older Adults Plans More Services

Robert Horrocks, executive director of the Council for Older Adults, is pictured above working on an assignment with office manager Brenda Duffey at the computer.

"She keeps the office running," says Horrocks of Duffey.

About the computer, he says, "This computer is a big help. We couldn't do without it."

The agency last Tuesday celebrated its first anniversary as an incorporated one.

The non-profit organization has kicked off several new services for seniors, with more yet to come. Services in the works include the Telephone Reassurance program for isolated seniors, an adult day care program and a summer chore service that will link older adults and teenagers.

While the agency has developed services in its year of existence, Horrocks says still more are needed. A scientific, random study that is planned to be completed in either late September or early October will give the agency a better idea as to what those needs are, he says.

"There is a pent-up demand out there for services," Horrocks comments.

"The survey is not always easy to find out which programs will be successful, however."

"Some will be successful. Some you'll find out will not work," he states.

Council Adopts New Water Tap Fees

Sunbury council last week passed the ordinance setting new water tap charges for the village, and held first readings on pay increase measures for village employees and the clerk-treasurer.

Council voted 5-0, with member Len Weatherly absent, to pass the water tap-in fee ordinance, which places a 1/4 in water tap at $1,200 and a one-inch tap at $3,600. Fee schedule goes up to an 8-inch tap which will now cost $84,000.

Council held first readings on two ordinances for pay increases to employees and the clerk. One ordinance would grant village employees up to a six percent pay increase over the pay period beginning on or after July 1.

Other ordinance would raise the clerk-treasurer's pay to $24,000 per year, beginning July 1. That ordinance states the clerk currently is paid $13,500.

Council passed as emergency measures five different ordinances setting up petty cash funds for various departments. Mayor Bob Reed states the petty cash funds are required by the state auditor's office for the police dept., clerk-mayor, director of taxation, water-sewer dept. and street cemetery dept.

In other business, council passed an escrow agreement for sewer for the proposed Sunbury Estates partnership which plans to build apartments on land near the northwest corner of S.R. 3 and S.R. 37. Agreement states $20,000 shall be held in an escrow account from the developer to be used to build 300 ft. of 10 in. sewer should the one currently serving the area need to be replaced.

Sunbury Estates partnership plans to build 80 rental units, 24 ranch-style condominiums, and 10-12 single family residences on the first acreage to be developed, 11 acres, on the former Paul Miller property. Mayor Reed added that the developer had already also paid $98,200 in development they plan to begin yet development, they plan to begin yet this year.

Mayor Reed also reported the Community Library has paid its tap fees for its new bus stop on the former Miller property on the south side of S.R. 37. The mayor told council that board "no longer has to worry about extending" the library credit.

And, council passed unanimously a resolution to hire Able Fence Co. to install an eight ft. fence along first base line at the playground ball field. The company bid $325 for the 30 ft. of fence, with work to be completed this week.

LEADS Head Start Sign-ups Are Friday Here

Letters to the editor...

WRITER WILL NOT VOTE 'YES' AGAIN FOR B.W. SCHOOL LEVY UNTIL DISTRICT IS EFFICIENT

Dear Editor:

I just read that the Big Walnut Schools have announced "severe tactics" in order to see that the school levy is passed. By this I mean that rather than looking at the school system as a business and taking every cost cutting measure possible before affecting the customer, Big Walnut has chosen to cut business, raise school lunch prices and charge extracurricular activities fees. Although these measures hardly get to the heart of the budget problem, they certainly get the attention of the "customer." The article stated that these measures would stay in force until a levy is passed. As a customer, I will not spend my money where I am threatened.

If the school district is truly looking deep into operating procedures and finding ways to be more cost effective, then let it publish the savings measures so that the people of the district can make a fair evaluation. Every business in America has had to downsize and find ways to become more efficient. In many cases, they are unable to raise prices and remain competitive. In the free enterprise system of America, it is the efficient business that survives. A school voucher system would certainly address this issue. I imagine that Big Walnut and many other schools would look to the business community as a model to solve their budget problems while still producing a fine "product" if the customers were free to spend their tax money on the school of their choice.

I have always been a staunch supporter of Big Walnut schools, however, they have just lost my vote. Threats and petty measures meant to inconvenience the very customers they are in business to serve will only harden my position. I think I speak for many Big Walnut "customers" who make a living in business. Certainly continued levy failures indicate that those of us from the "real world" are sending a message. Only when the district demonstrates that it is run as efficiently as a business trying to make it in these tough economic times, and not like a bureaucracy which sees the only answer as a tax increase, will I again be a school levy proponent.

Sincerely,
Jane Blank

WRITER RECOGNIZES TEACHING EFFORTS OF RETIRING BARBARA NICHOLS

Dear Editor:

Big Walnut School District will be losing a very valuable teacher at the close of school this year. Barbara Nichols is retiring this year and what a loss to the school district!

It really takes a special person to be a teacher and Barbara Nichols falls into that category. She is such a patient and caring person. Many, many children would have been lost without her. She had an endless reserve of ways to "motivate" the children. I guess you could say she could "get blood out of a turnip." I am sure I speak for many of the parents in the Big Walnut District because I only hear good things when her name is mentioned.

I wish her every happiness in her retirement.

Sincerely,
Connie Snyder

WRITER SAYS B.W. BOARD IS PUNISHING EVERYONE. IT CAN THINK OF BY CUTS

Dear Editor:

Twice the taxpayers in the Big Walnut School District have denied a request by the Board of Education for additional funding. Now, rather than reduce its request prior to a third try, the school board has initiated a program of retaliation against the district's parents of school-age children.

The board has decided to spend $10,000 for a special election in August to try for the third time to get an exorbitant levy passed. Then the board cuts the driver education program at the high school for a savings of $2,000 per year - five years worth of relation.

The board proposes to do away with all field trips, most of which are paid for by the PTO organizations or the parents of those going on the trips - punish those who are suspected of voting "no" on the past levy attempts. On June 1, the board ratified an agreement with the teachers association whereby no teachers can be let go for lack of money through Dec. 31. At the same meeting, the board raised lunch prices $30 for an increased cost to the parents of $30.00 - $50.00 per year; raised workbooks fees $15 per student; $10.00 per student for an increase to the parents of $25.00 - $30.00 per year; initiated a fee of $125 per child for each sport; and cut the band season each flag corps and drill corps season and each cheerleading season $125.00 - $135.00 per year.

The board exercises its legal right to stop busing high school students at a projected savings of $30,000 - $40,000 per year but considers replacing two vacant staff positions that will nullify the savings - students walk, staff rides.

Twice the board was told by the voter that the cookie jar is off limits, so the board has decided to throw a tantrum and punish anyone and everyone they can think to punish. What a pathetic display.

Ron Buxton

WRITER WANTS B.W. BOARD TO GENERATE 'REAL' SAVINGS. OR HE WILL VOTE 'NO' ON LEVY

Dear Editor:

Yes, this is another response about the continuing school levy issue for Big Walnut schools. My name is Jim Henderson, and most of you don't know me. You probably don't know my three fine kids: David, Christian and Chaucer, but the teachers do. I feel the teachers and school administrators have done a fine job in educating our children in this community. I have accordingly voted for every school levy in the 13 years I have been here.

I, however, take offense in reading the $-350 million in proposed cuts for the 1993-94 school year due to the levy failure. Realizing that more cuts will be made at the regular school board meeting did not lessen my distaste for the lack of busing for high school students and the elimination of driver training for a savings of $2,000.

Why don't we get to the "meat" and generate real savings. You can count on me for two things: (1) to pay for the driver training program out of my pocket if the levy fails, and (2) to vote against the next levy.

Jim Henderson

United Way Names Joy Kaser Executive Director

Interim director of the United Way of Delaware County has been named as the executive director, beginning July 1.

Joy Kaser, who had been the interim director since Mar. 1, was offered the position at a recent United Way board meeting, reports Genny Hart, communications director for the United Way of Delaware County.

D.G. Edgerton, search committee chairman and board president, said, "It became apparent from talking to her agency directors that Joy was doing an outstanding job in every area we could think of."

Kaser has a background in education, serving as a teacher and curriculum coordinator. She has been active in the community for years, co-founding the Hospice of Delaware county as well as founding the Delaware County Cultural Arts Center.

In addition, Kaser has served as a consultant, using her knowledge of fund raising, board development and public relations to help many nonprofit organizations throughout Ohio, according to Hart.

She was chosen from among 15 applicants for the permanent position, including one with 18 years United Way experience, Edgerton said.

"When you compare that to the way Joy knows the community, we came to the conclusion that no matter how another applicant came to know the community, we'd hire Joy anyway," he said.

Kaser, her husband, Steve, a veterinarian at the Delaware Animal Hospital, and their three sons live in Delaware county for 20 years.

BW Students Exceed State Percentages in Proficiencies

Big Walnut students continue to pass Ohio Ninth Grade Proficiency Tests at a rate surpassing statewide percentages according to results released May 20 by the Ohio Department of Education (ODE).

Of the Big Walnut students required to pass all four tests, only 16 percent of the 24 tenth graders and 38 percent of the 24 eighth graders passed all four, district officials reported. Approximately 70 percent of these students need to pass only one more test before the end of the twelfth grade. According to district testing coordinator Fred Pullon, this means that 90 percent of the local eleventh graders, 88 percent of the local tenth graders, and 78 percent of the local ninth graders either already have passed all required tests or are eligible for exemption. The state department estimates that 83 percent of Ohio's eleventh graders, 75 percent of Ohio's tenth graders and 57 percent of Ohio's ninth graders have passed all required tests.

Students first take the tests in November of their ninth grade year and have a total of nine opportunities to pass during their four years of high school tests. They are given in mathematics, reading, writing and citizenship. Students must pass all four tests, in addition to meeting other requirements, in order to earn a high school diploma. Handicapped students meeting certain specific requirements may be eligible for exemption.

This year's eleventh graders are the first students who have taken the tests each year since ninth grade, and the first will be required to pass all four tests in order to graduate, Fulton reports.

Analysis of test results indicates that Big Walnut students are achieving exceptionally well in both writing and reading, according to Fulton. While pointing out that only one of the 24 eleventh graders is not eligible for exemption has not passed writing and that only one has not passed reading, Fulton noted, "While we cannot be satisfied as long as even one student has not passed, we are extremely pleased with the way that BW students and staff have risen to the challenges presented by the proficiency tests."

Big Walnut students attending the Delaware JVS also have achieved well on these two tests because all not eligible for exemption have passed writing and only two have not yet passed reading.

In addition, district records indicate that BW ninth and tenth graders also are having "excellent" success in these two testing areas, he reported. "Both locally and statewide, mathematics continues to be the testing area most troublesome to students. BW district officials indicate that about 40 percent of local eighth graders are not eligible for exemption have not yet passed mathematics, while ODE estimates that approximately 12 percent of Ohio's current juniors who have taken the tests have not passed.

"Though pleased at the progress we have been making at assisting BW students to achieve proficiency in the required testing areas, we are continuing to make all the adjustments we can to help our students," Fulton said. He noted that changes made during the last three years have included revising curriculum to accommodate proficiency outcomes in each of the testing areas, devising and implementing early identification and intervention for students at risk of not passing, establishing summer school instruction for middle school students having difficulty and providing individual tutoring at both the middle school and high school levels; in addition to other modifications in program and instruction.

Upon examining the state report and district results for the 1992-93 year of proficiency testing, BW Superintendent Carl Martin remarked, "It is gratifying to see that our results compare very favorably with other school districts in central Ohio and around the state. However, we are much more interested in the progress being made by each of our students. These results are further evidence indicating the tutoring at both the middle school and high school levels; in addition to other modifications in program and instruction."

Firefighter Honored

BST&G Fire Department wined and dined firefighter Bill Fisher the other evening with a banquet at the Royal American Links Golf Club. The department honored Bill for 40 years of his being a volunteer firefighter, "the only remaining active firefighter who was on the force when the department was begun," back in 1954.

Bill says the department also recognized his wife, Margaret, with a dozen roses "for all the things she has left her on her own during emergencies."

Award Winner

Six crime victim assistance organizations from around the state have received special achievement awards for innovative projects helping Ohio's victims of crime. Attorney General Lee Fisher announced.

One of the winning projects is The Delaware County Sexual Assault Coalition. "County-wide protocol for the treatment of sexual assault survivors" - This program has its origins in a 1988 rape prevention project grant and a county-wide effort to create better communication between the Delaware County Rape Task Force, which in turn evolved into the Delaware Sexual Assault Coalition. This information is from a release provided by Attorney General Lee Fisher's office.

Code Plus Builder

Albertson Custom Homes of Fredericktown is now a "Code Plus" builder, according to a release from owner Jim Albertson. Jim says, including not only in materials but also using "precise installation techniques."

filling at the June 1 meeting, they plan to do so at next month's meeting.

Members discussed combining the policy, meaning that members Gary Moseley said he would like to see job descriptions of current employees to see if any of them could fill the position. He was asked to look at other alternatives as well.

"We're trying to save money. Everybody has to hit the bullet somewhere," Moseley said.

Martin said the activity accountant manages 43 activity accounts, which are part of the state-mandated accounting system.

"It's not just somebody sitting there doing nothing," he said. "The high school guidance secretary has an important job," he continued.

Board members approved extended service to 10 staff members. Most of these, with the exception of four, are minimum-day extended service, meaning they were as low as the board could go with extended service.

Martin said allowing the six staff members the minimum days will save the school district $3,375 over last year.

Board members also approved the OAPSE Local 524 proposal that was presented at the June 1 meeting by President David Margenau.

It states that OAPSE Local 524 proposed to the board of education to extend the current negotiated agreement for one year, with the exception of the classified employees' regular step increases. In addition, Local 524 proposes a pay freeze for one year.

In other news, the board approved the intradistrict open enrollment policy, meaning that parents may select which of the three elementary schools they would like their children to attend. Students will be picked for the chosen school through a lottery, which will be held through July 15.

All members but Moseley approved this policy. Moseley opposed due to class size limitations. Grades K-2 will have 20 students per class, while grades 3-5 will have 25.

"I still think the 20 students (K-2) makes it a paper policy. It's not realistic and not acceptable to me," said a Big Walnut parent, the board said that she is involved with a coalition of parents that does not agree with the Outcome Based Education plan.

She explained that this proposed plan basically would eliminate grades and concentrate more on the psychology of the child, such as inter-personal, political and religious beliefs and life-or-death questions, to name a few.

She read a letter to the board from the parent coalition stating that the parents would like to give written permission for their children to be tested this way, if this type of curriculum is established in the Big Walnut schools.

Students were each responsible for their own costume as they portrayed such characters as Snow White, Little Red Riding Hood, Alice in Wonderland, Peter Pan, Captain Hook, Raggedy Ann, Cinderella, and the Seven Dwarves. "MOUTH RINSES"

The American Dental Association (ADA) so far has approved two mouth rinses as effective in preventing bacterial plaque, at the root of most gum disease. Peridex, the most effective of all on the market, is available by prescription only and may stain teeth.

A twice-daily rinsing with Listerine mouthwash, sold over the counter, has also been shown to reduce plaque significantly when done in conjunction with regular brushing and flossing.

If in doubt as to whether you should be a candidate for using one of these rinses, ask your dentist.

WE HELPED WRITE THE BOOK

MOVING INTO GREENER PASTURES. The people of Delaware County have a reputation for hard, honest work and Phil and Lisa Gentile are no different. They bought their home, worked hard to improve it and maintain it, and hoped one day to reap the rewards of their efforts. That one day arrived recently when a visit to The Bank let Phil and Lisa know how the equity in their home could become a ReadCredit Account. They took advantage of their new account and purchased additional pastureland for their horses. They're also using it to create a basement office that should be done soon. The Bank is proud to have helped Phil and Lisa realize their dream. Because with people like them, and accounts like ReadCredit, we helped write the book in Delaware County.

When I hear the word "dairy," I immediately think of cows, milk, butter, cream, cheese, and ice cream. Yogurt and cottage cheese also come to mind. How about you? These recipes all contain many dairy products:

Macaroni And Cheese
6 oz. elbow macaroni (1 1/2 cups)
1 Tbsp. butter or margarine
1/2 c. finely chopped onion (optional)
2 Tbsp. all-purpose flour

Dash pepper
2 c. milk
2 c. cubed sharp American cheese (8 oz.)

Cook macaroni according to package directions; drain. In saucepan, melt butter or margarine. If using onion, cook it in butter till tender but not brown. Blend in flour, the 1/2 tsp. salt, and pepper. Add milk all at once; cook and stir till thickened and bubbly. Add cubed cheese to sauce; stir till melted.

Stir cheese sauce into macaroni. Turn mixture into a 1 1/2 quart casserole.
Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees till heated through, 30 to 35 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Potato Casserole

"It's really not hard to meet the RDA for calcium," says Greg Miller, Ph.D., vice president of Nutrition Research for National Dairy Council. "For adults to get 800 mg per day, you need the equivalent of just two to three servings of dairy foods. Cereal with milk in the morning and a slice of cheese pizza for lunch, or a carton of yogurt for a snack and a slice of cheese on a sandwich at lunch are just a couple of examples of how easy it is to add calcium-rich foods to the diet."

News From Out Condit Way

by Nancy Fuller

Sunbury Memorial Day program and parade was attended by many folks of this area. It was a very nice tribute to honor the ones who gave their lives to help preserve our freedom.

The weather sure has been hot and cool yet nice. There were some pretty hard rain storms in this area, but I didn't hear of any bad damage. It did keep the farmers out of the fields for a few days, but they are now working hard, before the next rain storm.

Congratulations to Carl and Betty Cocklin on their silver wedding anniversary. Family and friends helped them celebrate their special day with a surprise gathering at the Condit Presbyterian Church.

Don't forget, your churches have Vacation Bible School programs coming up. Call them for more information. This is always a fun time for the children.

Happy 60th birthday to Lucille Wolfe of Florida. Her family had a picnic to help her celebrate her special day on May 30. Lucille and husband, Bob, are visiting in Ohio.

Congratulations to Amy Croushore Taylor. She graduated from Northridge High School. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Croushore and family, her husband, Travis, also graduated with her.

Get well wishes are sent to Randy Longshore. He hurt his eye and was treated in a hospital emergency room. He is doing better.

Happy 47th wedding anniversary to Bernard and Lolly Searies. We hope their day was special and that they celebrate many more happy days.

Have a great week!

Pastor Gerald Davis

Sunbury Nursing Home named Pastor Gerald Davis, pastor of Sunbury Wesleyan Church, as Volunteer of the Year during the annual Volunteer Recognition Night held Thursday, May 20, at the Sunbury United Methodist Church.

A total of 24 volunteers were presented pins and notes of appreciation from the residents. The honored volunteers, the residents and their families were entertained by the Midwesterners Country Band during Volunteer Recognition Night. Davis was selected for this honor due to his dedication to this honor which goes above and beyond the call of duty, reports Linda Kahler, the nursing home's activities director. He conducts weekly church services and is always available to lend a helping hand, she says. He also accompanies the residents on outings. They consider him part of the Sunbury Nursing Home family, Kahler adds.

Searchlight To Travel to Akron Dinner-Theater

Searchlight Club members and friends will meet Wednesday (June 16) at 9:30 a.m. at the Sunbury United Methodist Church for a parking lot before traveling to Akron in order to see the musical "Meet Me in St. Louis," while dining at the dinner-theater.

Monday Luncheon Features 'Positive Choices' About Sex

"Positive Choices" will be the theme of an early pregnancy prevention luncheon to be held Monday (June 14) from 11:00 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. at the Delaware City Schools Administration Building, 248 N. Washington St.

"How to Talk with Your Child about Sex and Why It's Important" will be featured for parents of pre-schoolers through eighth graders. Another program, "What Kids Want to Know about Sex and Growing Up," will be offered for parents and middle school students.

During these two programs, parents will have the chance to preview new materials about those subjects.

In addition to parents, school personnel, community members and community agency representatives also are invited.

Free pizza will be provided. Reservations are required. Contact Kim Diliano, student assistant coordinator, at 1-363-1188.

This is a special Delaware City School project in cooperation with Delaware JVS, Delaware County Department of Human Services, Delaware City-County Health Department and the Ohio State University Extension. The program is funded by a grant from the Ohio Department of Health, according to a news release.

Mrs. William Webber, Mrs. Kenneth Mackley and Mrs. Robert Seitz all enjoyed the Pabulum To Prom CCL dinner at Blakemore's on Monday evening. New officers were installed for the coming year, and secret sisters were revealed.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert G. Houser attended a function honoring Dr. Houser for being on staff at Children's Hospital for 25 years on Monday evening. We are so grateful to have such a wonderful doctor as Bob at our service.

Orville Tuller, Bob and Joyce Seitz and John and Beth Schmitt attended the graduation party of Tricia McPherson. She graduated from Big Walnut High School on Sunday.

I understand graduation was a big success at the Big Walnut High School. Congratulations to all the graduates.

Harlem-Galena Fifty-Fifty Club Doubles in Size

Newly formed Harlem-Galena Fifty-Fifty Club has increased its membership from 47 to 91 members since May, reports director Pat Reed.

Group members have been busy with quilting, line-dancing, crafts, Bible study, walking and traveling, in addition to monthly potlucks.

The next potluck will be held next Thursday (June 17) at noon at the Harlem Grange Hall in Center Village. After the potluck, members will play progressive euchre and other card games.

Those interested in becoming members should bring their favorite food and table service to the potluck, Reed reports.

The group will stay busy traveling in the coming months, she says. Members have two trips planned for next month. The first is July 10 to Loudonville for the Indian Pow-Wow festival. They will travel on July 17 to Plain City for the Thrashers Association show.

For more information, call Reed at 965-4712.

Lock in a great rate on a CD. Then raise it.

Bank One has taken the risk out of locking your money into a fixed-rate CD. With our Comforter CD you can invest at a competitive rate now. But if rates go up, you can roll your money over to a higher rate once during the term of the Certificate.

You can also add more money to your Comforter CD if you change to a higher rate (up to the amount of your original deposit, but not to exceed a Certificate total of $100,000).

If interest rates remain the same or go down, you'll continue to earn the original rate—so the interest rate you earn can never go down.

COUNCIL FOR OLDER ADULTS

services is the biggest single problem that the Council for Older Adults is trying to change.

That is the reason why the council published a senior directory. The executive director says 2,000 of the 3,000 copies printed went quickly within the first couple of weeks. Horrocks says due to this he would like approximately 2,000 more printed.

Riverside Methodist Hospitals in Columbus and Grady Memorial Hospital, Delaware, helped with the printing costs, he says.

Because information in a senior directory is "static," however, the agency is getting ready to publish a newspaper geared toward older adults.

"Things change, so we've decided to begin a newspaper and keep people informed that way," Horrocks says.

Beginning next month, more than 5,000 copies are planned to be mailed to Delaware county residents, according to Horrocks. Another 1,000 will be placed in county businesses that deal with seniors.

This newspaper will come out every two months, with the goal of publishing monthly.

Yet another way the agency will keep people informed is through booths at fairs this summer.

"I have booth, will travel" must be Marvel Miller's motto. She is employed part time by the agency and travels around the county helping people fill out Golden Buckeye Card applications and assisting with their wills, among other help.

"She has an application for everything," Horrocks smiles.

He says Miller was hired through a grant for one part-time employee.

Other services that Horrocks hopes are up and running soon are adult day care, a summer chore program and Telephone Reassurance.

An adult day care task force was formed in April by the council's 21-member board of trustees. Those 21 members are elected by the county commissioners, the six villages, the 18 townships and senior citizens groups, Horrocks says.

This task force will both study the need for and recommend whether a not-for-profit adult day care service is feasible, given the size of the county, Horrocks says.

"This is a big gap; it (the service) is really needed in Delaware county," he states.

"We want to have this service to give families some respite."

Horrocks explains that though the task force will recommend whether this service is a good idea, this group will not actually develop that possible program, he stresses.

Seniors and teen-agers would be linked through the summer chore program. The latter would be trained through a summer youth job training program to help low-income seniors. They would learn to paint, wash windows, move heavy furniture and perform heavy house cleaning, yard work and minor repairs for their elders.

Both the Council for Older Adults and the Central Ohio Rural Consortium (CORC) are organizing this service, though funding and "related concerns" are still up in the air.

"We are reasonably sure that we can do it, and we want to be ready to go when funding arrangements are completed," CORC director Bob Easterday said in a Council for Older Adults news release.

"Before the eight-week summer program can be finalized, we need some indication of the kind of demand we might receive for these (summer chore) services," Horrocks said in that same release.

The Telephone Reassurance program will have volunteers calling senior citizens who live alone and are isolated in order to make sure that they are okay.

Horrocks says right now he is concentrating on rounding up volunteers. He has eight now but would like 10 before starting this service.

Another service that the agency provides is helping older adults stay active and social with their peers through senior citizen groups.

"There is a gap in groups for active, independent seniors who want to get together," Horrocks says. "We play the role of catalyst in getting these active seniors together."

He says the Harlem-Galea Fifty-Fifty Club is the largest of these new groups, with approximately 91 members.

The agency also is working with the established Big Walnut Senior Citizens.

In addition, senior groups in Delaware township and Bellpoint have been formed with the council's assistance. The agency is trying to form similar groups in Powell and Radnor as well, Horrocks says.

None of these services or groups would be possible without volunteers, however, he stresses.

"We wouldn't be successful without the volunteers," the executive director states.

Horrocks says each part of Delaware county is "pretty well represented" with volunteers. About one-third of the volunteers live in the city of Delaware, which is representative considering about one-third of the county's population lives there, he says.

Although Horrocks is not sure how many volunteers the council has, he says more are needed.

"You have to start slow and work with the volunteers. If you support your volunteers, they will tell others about you," he comments.

"We've been talking with people to find out who's interested in doing what."

Horrocks says soon he is going to apply for insurance to cover 50 volunteers just in case they are injured while on the job.

He stresses that a volunteer coordinator is needed to oversee the volunteers.

That would be a dream come true," he emphasizes.

Since the not-for-profit agency's estimated annual budget for this year is approximately $80,000, it depends on volunteers.

Delaware county this year has given the agency $38,000, and the city of Delaware has provided $25,000, according to Horrocks.

The remainder is made up by villages and townships. They are asked to pay 50 cents per capita, according to the 1991 task force recommendation.

"Sunbury has been real supportive," Horrocks says.

The agency has some carryover from last year's budget as well.

In addition, he expects the agency to make approximately $3,000 in advertising sales for its newspaper.

In order to supplement the agency's budget, the board of trustees may consider putting a levy on a ballot in the near future, according to Horrocks.

"We want to have a good understanding of the needs in Delaware county, only then would we consider it," he says. "It is one of our options."

Horrocks is experienced in working within the budgets of older adult agencies, considering he has worked in this area for approximately 18 years.

Although Horrocks is used to this, he says, "Delaware county seemed like a real challenge because there was so much to do," he says.

Those interested in learning more about the Council for Older Adults or becoming a volunteer can call 1-800-994-2255.

Mushroom Gatherers Find Some Behemoths

Local gatherers say this hasn't been an exceptional year for mushroom hunting, but one pair says what they found in one gathering was "big." Phil Gentile, 1221 Monkey Hollow Rd., and his dad, Franklin, of Columbus, brought home "lots of good eating" earlier this month when they found some whoppers.

Harlem Resident, Alice Hardbarger, Dies Monday Morning

Alice Hardbarger, 61, of Harlem Rd., Galena, died Monday morning at her residence following a brief illness.

A Columbus native, she moved to Galena in 1950 from Columbus. She was a homemaker and had worked at the Riverview Country Club and was a bookkeeper for the family business, Hardbarger Drywall.

She is survived by husband, Edgel D. "Ed" Hardbarger; son, Mike Hardbarger of Galena; daughters Valerie (died) Dann of Galena, Leanna (Brian) Maxwell of Westerville and Jill (Jeff) Lennon of Galena; eight grandchildren; brothers, Harold Taylor of Centerville and Lewis Taylor of Union Center, Ok., and sisters, Garnet (Joe) Swinger of Galena, Clarice (Garet) McCarty of Gahanna, Virginia Taucher of Burgett, Pa., and Mary (Tim) Ryan of Columbus. Funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at Cheshire Cemetery, DeVore-Snyder Funeral Home, Sunbury, made the arrangements.

"out by that big tree."

Phil and his father show off their findings in the above photo. One measured 1 1/2 in. long, and had a 3 in. diameter. Two others were 7 in. long, while another measured 5 in. and also had a 3 in. girth.

"I've been gathering morels with dad about 25 years now, and this is the biggest one I've ever collected," Phil says about the whopper. "I've been able to gather them by the bushes'husks" all before, but nothing ever that size."

Phil says this year he even had to cut through briars to get the mushrooms. "They all seemed to grow in the same place, under the same tree." And, those he collected the one day amounted to the extent of his findings this spring. "There just weren't any more."

But the large ones he and his dad did find made into some good eating, Phil adds. "We like to fry them in flour and serve them with good red meat. Ummm, it sure was good!"

Tiff Miller Is Also On OSU's Honors List

Local student was left out of an article recently listing those who made winter honor roll at The Ohio State University.

Tiffany Miller, whose address is Centerburg, made the honors list at least in 1992.

The news was for the term only with Delaware county zip codes in the listing published May 6.

Laura, Not Lisa, Burkhardt Makes B-W Honor Society

Older daughter of Jim and Dorie Burkhardt, 2711 Blayney Rd., Sunbury, was actually inducted into the Dayton C. Miller Society at Baldwin-Wallace College this spring for her academic prowess.

The News last week incorrectly reported Laura as Lisa, her younger sister, a freshman student at B-W.

Laura has a 3.7 grade point average over 105 credit hours at the Berea college. She is a junior carrying a double major, English and Spanish.

Laura is also vice president of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and serves as scholarship chairman of Panhellenic Executive Board. The reigning Baldwin-Wallace Homecoming Queen, Laura is a member of the school's track team and serves as an aerobic dance instructor at the recreation center on campus.

Our apologies to Laura and her family for our mistake.

News Notes Down Harlem Way

by Betty Johnson

My apologies to all who looked for my column last week. I had composed it but on my rushed trip through Sunbury, I forgot to hand it in to the News people. Folks did let me know they had tried to find it. I will glean out all the goodies for this week.

Congratulations to Trisha Brown who was graduated from Ashland College recently. Her field of study was Medical Biology.

Big Walnut's Commencement service was held Sunday, June 6, at the high school stadium. Other graduates have been able to have graduation at home, and the weather cooperated this time for the B.W. grads. The only problem was I saw some people with really sunburnt faces after the ceremonies. This is partly because we have had so little sun up till now. As I toiled around Harlem township on Sunday I saw lots of houses with parking problems, so it was obvious there was a graduation party going on. Congratulations to all of the Harlem area grads.

Christie and I attended the party held for Heather Kabler, which was well populated. Former teachers Jack, Arlene and Kim Bighouse, now from Galion, came back to be with the Kablers on this grand day.

Gary, Kathleen and I spent a week visiting Karen and Don Campbell in the Dodgeville, WI. area. We did the tourist things that included history (Pendarvis in Mineral Point, WI., where we ate foods Cornish miners used to eat called pasties — half crust filled with meat and potatoes — and fiddle dorn — hot raisin pie with ice cream and caramel sauce). We saw lots of craft shops, antique shops

She is survived by sons, Jesse J. Adams and Robert M. Majaj Smith, of Galena; daughters, Dorothy J. (Donald) Scott of Columbus and Louise Van Loon of Delaware; daughter-in-law, Mary E. Smith of Columbus; step-son, Ellis (Kathy) Moose, Jr., of Palmetto, FL; step-daughter, Wanda (Donald) Ellis of Shelby; 21 grandchildren and many great-grandchildren; and sisters, Elsie Riebel of Columbus and Glorine Larimer of Springfield.

Funeral was held Monday morning at DeVore-Snyder Funeral Home, Sunbury, with Rev. Everett Chambers officiating. Burial was made in Sunbury Memorial Park. Contributions may be made in her name to the donor's favorite charity.

News From Tussic Area

by Sandra Meacham

Grace Chapel Community Church is celebrating the 70th anniversary this week. Guest speaker Sunday morning during the worship service will be Pastor Mabel Whipple.

Charter member Hilda Tuller will be honored. Following the special service, a dinner will be served in the new Herport multi-purpose building followed by special music in honor of this special occasion. Pastor James Meacham has been the pastor of Grace Chapel for the past 27 years. He has a wife, Sandra, and his son, Doug, lives in Nashville, TN.

Congratulations to Sheri West on her graduation from the 8th grade at Christ The King Christian School. Sheri was honored with a surprise dinner at a restaurant in celebration of this special event.

Mr. and Mrs. Rob McCabe returned home this week from a vacation trip to New York. Pastor and Mrs. Gary Holman and family and Mr. and Mrs. Dave McPeak and family enjoyed dinner together on Sunday at a restaurant.

An overnight guest of Tiffany Freney was Darla Hillier.

A special guest at the home of Jack and Opal Whitt this past week was and enjoyed the local architecture, which included lots with Frank Lloyd Wright influence.

We also visited Dayna and Dick Eschbacher of Nevada, OH, on Saturday. The countryside in Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin was lush and green. Wisconsin farmers are crying about too much rain. They have not planted much so far and are already worrying about an early frost. All farmers have a lot to worry about, and most of it is in areas they cannot control.

The Harlem Garden Club has been busy recently. Members planted the plot at the Ohio State Fairgrounds and the Lausche Building. Mary Smithberger is the chairman of that venture. The fairgrounds seemed very organized and the helpers finished much quicker than usual.

Then Debbie Mitchell's committee planted plots at Oak Grove Cemetery in Delaware. One of our members, Donald C. "Deb" Edwards, 82, formerly of CR 21, Marengo, died Monday morning at Doctors Hospital North, Columbus.

Also, the Harlem Firehouse plantings are now finished and blooming with white and blue flowers. Billie Bower will be planting a barrel on the square in Sunbury. What else would you expect garden clubbers to do in the spring besides plant flower beds?

Well, four of us are signed up to go to Sea World for Gardener's Day Out sponsored by the OAGC. Those going are Billie Bower, Debbie Mitchell, Valerie Hammel, Nancy Singer, and

by Mrs. Carey Glaze

Pastor Forest Newland had another fine sermon this week for the New Bethel congregation. He spoke about our need of a shepherd and who the Good Shepherd is, using scripture passages from Isaiah 53, John 10, and Psalms 23. The message emphasized that "We are in God's hands and are secure with Him." A good lesson on faith.

Our missionary of the week is Phyllis Kieffer, who teaches Bible classes in schools in Southern Indiana. Recently, she had the privilege of seeing some of her former students and hearing how much her classes meant to them years ago.

Wednesday, June 9, was prayer meeting at 7 o'clock. Afterwards, there was a shower for Matthew Bice to help fill the needs for his Teen Missions trip this summer.

Thursday, June 10, the Friendship Circle ladies will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the home of Christine Webb for a carry-in dinner. This is the month for election of officers.

Saturday, June 12, the elder young people will have their youth meeting from 4 to 6 p.m. in the home of Gene and Doris Wampler.

The Bible School committee has been working for many months making plans for Bible School to be held June 21-25.

We wish happy birthdays this week to Roberta England, Keith Wilson, Travis Reynolds, Barbara Hunt, Julie Glaze, Don Herliensky, and Maxine Williams.

We also wish happy wedding anniversaries to Kevin and Susan Kretschmer and John and Judy Braddock.

Lloyd and Martha Volk are both improving from their accident last week. Lloyd was able to return home later in the week, but Martha is still in Grant Hospital.

Jim Williams of County Line-Murphy Road is improving slowly, but has been in the hospital six weeks now.

Mabel Bricker is having back problems again and not able to get around so well now.

Paul Garze is home again but is seriously ill. He had more tests and treatments Monday in Doctors Hospital.

Marilyn Rice was quite ill again the past week.

Tim Gorsuch had tests again last week in Children's Hospital.

Pat Strickland is getting along better and is able to ride in the car now.

Bob Webb of Texas, son of Cloise and Marge Webb, is coming along well now after very serious surgery three weeks ago. Cloise and Marge are back home after spending some time in Texas with Bob and his family.

Harvey McElroy is feeling so much better now. Martha is having trouble keeping him off the lawn mower.

We are also glad Dave and Sue Garbaranti and new baby, Kelsey Leann, and her brothers and sister were able to be at New Bethel on Sunday.

Tuesday, June 1, Mildred Della Flora was hostess at her farm for a field trip of the Columbus Christian School from the Northland Church of Christ.

Mildred's grand-daughter, Amanda, invited the 18 children in her first grade, the teacher, and several parents to enjoy the day at Grand Farm. Mildred enjoyed the field trip as much as the children.

The week before, on May 25, Mildred's daughter, Susan Smith, brought her day-care children to the farm for a picnic. Another special day for Mildred, too.

On Saturday, Chris Geiger was honored with a dinner given by her employer, State Farm Insurance, of Newark for her 20 years of service there.

Many from the community attended the Hartford Alumni Banquet last Saturday night. There were almost 200 people in attendance.

Sunday afternoon Imogene Boston and son, Larry, called on Mr. and Mrs. Curt Boston at their new home near Mount Vernon. They also enjoyed supper with the family.

Saturday, Ruth Cramer and Ed and Gladys Green attended the memorial service for Ruth's nephew, Bill Miller at the Christian Church in Harrod. Bill was the son of Ocie Twigg of Mount Vernon.

Rose Ella Grove was surprised Friday evening when she came home from work to find a house full of people to help her celebrate her birthday. Bob had prepared a delicious meal for them, complete with homemade ice cream and cake.

Saturday evening, Bob and Clarice Cramer and Jim and Leisa Cramer and daughter, Kaila, attended the wedding of Clarice's nephew, David Liggett, and Julie Hutchison at the Alexandria Baptist Church.

The reception was held at the Best Western Restaurant in Newark with a catered dinner and music by Randy Clayton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Webb attended a reception Sunday afternoon at the Heritage House at Forest, in honor of the children of Rev. and Mrs. Rex Roth. Jackie was graduated from college and Mike from high school.

Callers of Forest and Florence Cross were Pastor Forest Newland, neighbors M. Wilson, and Betty Metzger.

Wednesday guests of Marguerite Bennett were Eva Carpenter and Avis Dorn of Columbus and Stella Trone of Westerville.

Bob and Rose Ella Grove attended two graduation parties Sunday - one in Columbus, the other in Sunbury.

Imogene Boston and Margaret Smith enjoyed lunch together on Saturday. Harold and Christine Webb and Mildred Della Flora had Sunday dinner together in Johnston.

YOUR EYES

By
Dr. Brian A. Dittenber

WHAT BLURRED VISION MEANS

Blurred vision should be brought to your optometrist's attention promptly. While blurring may indicate nothing more than a need for corrective lenses - which the eye doctor can prescribe - it may be a sign of infection or other illness.

If central vision appears blurred while the peripheral vision remains clear, it may indicate a change in the central part of the retina. This calls for immediate professional attention. Conversely, peripheral vision may begin to blur while the central vision remains normal. At first, the individual adapts to this limited field of clear vision; it is probably still possible to read, sew, or even play golf. The patient may not even be aware of the blurring, but loss of side vision is often the first sign of glaucoma. Immediate diagnosis and treatment is called for.

Don't wait for blurred vision or other eye problems. An annual optometric examination is a wise choice that can catch problems early.

Brought to you as a community service by Dr. Brian A. Dittenber, Optometrist, 30 South Vernon Street, Sunbury, Ohio, 965-4671.
